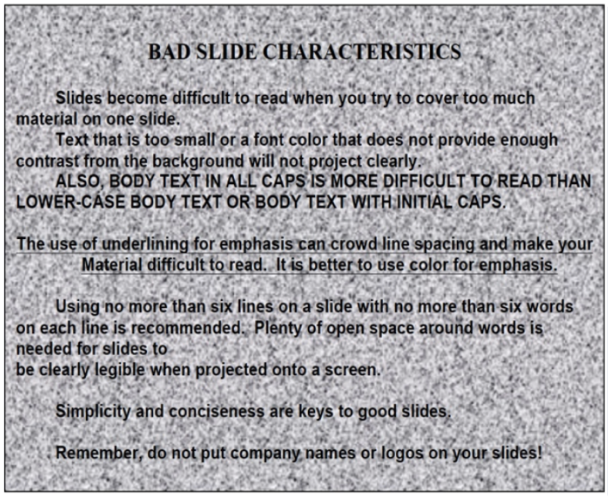
Gilded Age Jigsaw

All of you just took notes on a section of the Gilded Age. Based on who else is in your section, that will be your partner for this assignment. You will be teaching the class about the section you just read. These will be the requirements:

• Lesson Presentation: This is going to be your PowerPoint or Canva presentation. It should be no more than 3-4 slides, with one of those slides being your title slide. Your slides should contain key ideas that you want students to know as well as visual images to help them grasp the topic. Remember, there is a difference between good presentations and bad presentations. Based on the slides below, which is better? Why?



Please email me your PowerPoint or Canva presentation by the end of the day on Monday, 9/21 (however, you'll have the rest of the week to work on this in class as well as next Monday. I HIGHLY recommend you email it to me before the end of your class period on Monday). If I DO NOT receive an email of your presentation by the end of the day on Monday, you and your groups presentation is automatically half credit. My email is amber.toller@leusd.k12.ca.us

For your presentation, you will be teaching your section to the class. DO NOT just stand up in front of the class and read off the screen. If you do this, I promise you, you will fail. Be sure to give the class examples and if your classmates have questions, be sure to answer them. The class should also be asking questions in an effort to learn the material.

• Assignment: At the end of your presentation, the class will be completing an assignment, created by you, on your section. Each group is required to create something for the class regarding the section you taught. Ideas include, but are not limited to:

- A mini DBQ
- Drawing a political cartoon
- Creating a timeline
- Open ended questions to answer

This MUST be turned into me by Friday, 9/18. Please make sure all group members names are on the paper as well as the title of your section (you can also type this and email it to me as well). A packet with all the assignments created will be given to you on Tuesday. The packet will be turned into me by the beginning of the period on Thursday, 9/24. It will be worth 130 points.

These presentations are expected to be 3-5 minutes long. Your presentations should be engaging. I suggest that when you are done creating the PowerPoint or Canva, you practice your presentations to make sure that you receive a high score. You will have the next few days to work on these in class. Over the next few days, I will be calling each group over to see what you have planned/give advice on things you should or should not do. The rubric is as follows:

- PowerPoint- 20 points
- Lesson Presentation (including Power Point/your ability to teach) - 65 points
- Assignment- 15 points

In total, this is 100 points. You are going in order of the list that I gave you earlier. It CANNOT be changed to a different day, so if somebody doesn't show up in your group or you forgot something, too bad. Presentations will begin next Tuesday. We will likely finish them on Wednesday.
